

AMIPS – CARRIERES n° 457 Novembre 2008

Pharmacist - Health Industry

Context of the company

With 90 000 staff in all five continents of the globe and more than 10% organic growth in 2007, the DANONE Group is a global leader in dairy products and number two in bottled water. In 2008, the DANONE Group reinforces its positioning on healthy nutrition, with the acquisition of NUMICO, holding leading positions in Baby Food and Clinical Nutrition.

DANONE Research, international R&D centre located in south of Paris, was created in 2002 to accelerate health innovation lies at the heart of Group strategy. The R&D centre consist of more than 500 staff, 25 nationalities, 10 000 square meters of laboratories, several pilot production plants and one consumer centre.

Within the R&D organisation, the Brand Teams are focused on the strategy on the main brand of the group and New Health Benefits. Through an integrated R&D approach, the brand teams deliver products, technology & science which allows the business:

- to reinforce and innovate the health benefits
- to launch innovative products with new health benefits

Your missions :

Directly attached to the New Health Benefits and Innovation Team leader, and within a 5 persons Team, your main mission will be to provide a global perspective in well-being and Health, and to implement it toward Scientific Evaluation activities, suggestion to demonstrate Health Benefits and new ideas for nourishing innovation for worldwide business.

Within a multidisciplinary team, you will have to contribute on different areas such as : Stress, Fatigue/ Vitality, Cognitive performances, Mental Agility, Ageing, Mood

As a senior scientist, you will assume responsibility for the following :

- Participate in the definition of the scientific strategy in your areas
- Thanks to your expertise and international scientific network, provide advice to the team and make proposal
- Define, build and develop international scientific collaborations with Premium scientific entities; source and animate supplier/partner relationship in order to accelerate science
- Conduct and coordinate the science in multidisciplinary R&D projects with external and internal interfaces (Marketing, Development, Regulatory, ...)
- Communicate and enhance the value of the results internally (regulatory, Marketing) and externally (Scientific congresses, ...)

In this multidisciplinary team working on Innovation, you could explore different areas depending on attraction and business opportunities.

Your profile :

Pharmacist with 3/5 years of professional experience in a pharmaceutical industry, during which you have managed a project, ideally in those areas: stress management, Fatigue/vitality, or Cognitive performances. An experience with clinical approach will be a plus.

You are fluent in English and French, or you have the willingness to learn French.

You have good skills on communication and relationship and you're easy with complex environment.

Open minded, creative and curious, you are able to perform alone and within a team.

You are business and result oriented.

Merci de postuler directement sur notre site : www.danone.com , rubriques Carrières/ nos offres (référence de l'offre : 14186)